

Hood College PUBLIC HEALTH, B.A.

hood.edu/publichealth

PROMOTE WELLNESS. PREVENT DISEASE.
PROTECT INDIVIDUALS AND COMMUNITIES.

Public health is a dynamic field encompassing nutrition, mental health, epidemiology, environmental health and community outreach. Our public health program is likewise interdisciplinary, giving you the tools to make our world a safer and healthier place.

As a public health major at Hood, you will study the social determinants of health and learn how to address health disparities. Small class sizes allow you to work closely with your cohort and faculty members, as you gain hands-on research ethics training and certification.

The program culminates in a service-learning/ internship experience in a real-world setting based on your unique interests and goals. You will be prepared to use science-based, evidence-backed methods to increase health equity and improve health outcomes in whatever career you pursue.

“The public health program gives students the opportunity to make a difference both while they are in class and after graduation.”

—Thomas Kasanicky '24

HOOD.EDU

CAREERS IN PUBLIC HEALTH

Healthcare professionals are in high demand, with stronger-than-average job growth and salaries. Graduates of our program have gone on to pursue Master of Public Health (MPH) degrees and work as wellness coordinators, health technicians and immigration public health specialists. Possible public health career paths include:

- Community Health Planner
- Epidemiologist
- Food/Safety Inspector
- Health Data Analyst
- Health Services Administrator
- Public Health Consultant
- Public Health Program Manager

THE FUTURE OF PUBLIC HEALTH

- 7% job growth for public health workers by 2030.
- 200,000 public health jobs added by 2025.
- 50,000 government-trained community health workers deployed to underserved communities by 2025.
- 170+ job categories in public health sector.

Visit and Apply

Hood College
401 Rosemont Avenue
Frederick, MD 21701-8575
301-696-3400
publichealth@hood.edu

Your future is WORTH THE WORK.

