

Samantha Nachlas is a ceramic sculptor, functional potter, and elementary art teacher living and working in Frederick, MD. After receiving a B.S. and M. E.d in Art Education from Towson University, Samantha was accepted to the Hood College Graduate School. While teaching elementary art for Montgomery County Public Schools, she is currently working towards her M.F.A. in ceramics. Samantha has had work exhibited in multiple group shows through galleries such as Charlie Cummings Gallery, Las Lagunas Gallery, The Delaplaine Arts Center, and Savannah Clay Community. Her work can be found at The Delaplaine Gift Shop, Clayground Gallery and Studio, and Frederick Made.