

Press Release
April 26, 2022

THE ALMIGHTLY
GODS MAY 6
to
MAY 13
Open daily
9am to 7pm
SAVE THE WORLD

 HOOD
COLLEGE
401 Rosemont Ave
Frederick, MD 21701
www.hood.edu

Elisabeth Ngo

<https://lizngo741.wixsite.com/>

The Almighty Gods: Save the World is a mixed media exhibition that borrows from Greek and Roman mythology to illustrate concerns for the future of humankind.

Frederick, MD—Hood College is pleased to present Elisabeth Ngo and her series of artwork titled, The Almighty Gods: Save the World, in the Hodson Gallery located in the Tatem Arts Center from May 6 to 13, 2022. The exhibition opens on Friday, May 6, from 5-7 PM, with artist talks at 6pm. The Hodson Gallery is open daily from 9:00 am to 7:00 pm.

Elisabeth is inspired by Greek and Roman classical painting as well as the portrayal of heroes and anti-heroes in contemporary entertainment. The traditional paintings, digital paintings and sculptures in, The Almighty Gods: Save the World, borrow from classical characters and parables, to illustrate the degradation of the current social and environmental climates.

Elisabeth is graduating from Hood College with an Art and Archaeology major, a concentration in studio art, focus on drawing and a minor in Graphic Design; she will earn her Bachelor of Arts degree from Hood College in the Spring of 2023.

For gallery related questions contact the Gallery Director, Bonnie Kern (kern@hood.edu).