Program Information

Tucked between the Caribbean Sea and the rainforest on the eastern coast of Central America, Belize is the home of a small and diverse nation. The country, formerly known as British Honduras, was the United Kingdom's last colony on the American mainland and still maintains strong ties with Britain.

The official language of Belize is English, making it ideal for our student groups to communicate effectively and interact with local community and medical professionals.

During this program, students will get an overview of the Ministry of Health and Social Medicine in Belize in addition to a look at traditional natural Maya Medicine and Remedies. Participants will have the opportunity to shadow medical professionals in diverse medical areas.

Healthcare

Belize: Maya Medicine and Remedies:

The healthcare system of Belize is comprised of both public and private medical services. Under public healthcare, most Belizeans are entitled to free or low cost healthcare at Government-run hospitals and clinics around the country. However, the majority of funding is directed towards healthcare services in the capital city. Private medical services are also available in Belize, however, patients are required to pay a fee for services.

A traditional medicine system is the patrimony of a nation and its people. Maya traditional healing dates back to perhaps 5,000 years, but was nearly destroyed by the Spanish Conquest of the 15th century. The Conquistadores saw native healers as a detriment to mass conversion to Christianity. Thus all forms of traditional healing became erroneously associated with witchcraft and were outlawed by the Spaniards. Since then, it has been a constant struggle for true healers to overcome the stigma of witchcraft.

This was my first trip as a professor taking students abroad. Christian and his team were magnificent. Everything was taken care of, accommodations were excellent, the guides were friendly. My students had an opportunity to earn college credit while abroad and Christian personalized our trip to meet those needs. I fully recommend the Study Abroad Association, and I can't wait to attend next year.

Outstanding tours at the lowest prices in the industry. Our institution has worked with the Study Abroad Association on five study tours to locations as diverse as China, Central Europe, and Costa Rica.

SAA worked with us to build an itinerary that was both educational and a ton of fun. The local guides far exceeded our expectations.
